NORTH DENVER CENTER BEGAN 10 YEARS AGO

The North Denver Center, a community center for the youth of the neighborhood, was established 10 years ago. The center was founded by a group of parents who were concerned about the welfare of their children and the need for a place where they could receive proper guidance.

The center was originally located in a small building, but it has since been expanded and is now located in a large, modern facility. It offers a wide range of activities for the youth, including sports, music, art, and educational programs.

The center is open to all youth in the neighborhood, and is staffed by trained volunteers who are dedicated to helping the youth achieve their full potential.

REACHING CATHOLIC PUPILS IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS PROBLEM

The problem of reaching Catholic pupils in public schools is one that is being faced by many dioceses in the United States. The challenge is to find ways to effectively communicate the message of the Church to the Catholic pupils in these schools.

One approach that is being taken is through the use of religious instruction classes in the public schools. These classes are taught by Catholic teachers, and are designed to provide the pupils with an understanding of the teachings of the Church.

Another approach is through the use of religious education programs that are offered by the dioceses. These programs are designed to provide the pupils with a comprehensive understanding of the teachings of the Church, and to help them to live their faith in their daily lives.

The problem of reaching Catholic pupils in public schools is a complex one, and requires the cooperation of the dioceses, the public schools, and the pupils themselves. It is an ongoing challenge, and one that requires the commitment of all parties involved.
The Denver Catholic Register

Editor: Rt. Rev. Matthew Smith, D.D., Ph.D., LL.D., Presiding Officer of the Register. He was extremely proud of the fact that, in the third generation of his family, there was a priest. To him, American principles were sacred.

Like his famous fellow-countryman, he occasionally used startling language, but his natural ability enabled him to carry the day. To ensure his success, he had to go to work. His captain made him put on boxing gloves and figure out how to box. Soon he was pretty wealthy. He later had to go to work again, because he had to go to work.

Colorado teams. In those 18 tilts it was Adam Heit's stellar play that was the deciding factor, for the Blue Devils poured the leather through the net officials for the championship.

Throughout the third period the ball remained within the same bounds, but the second stanza Murphy and Mahoney in the back court, with Murphy, Costigan, and Duja playing in an offensive show as the second half began, with Buser getting three baskets.

Regis Rangers to Journey to Alamosa

The bears displayed a fast pass- ing that put the Golds in a lead they never relinquished, while Costigan and Mahoney kept the visitors from scoring at a steady pace.

Although little fault can be found in the way the bears played, their record has not been as good as that of their fellow students, but their efforts have been steady and consistent.

A Crosby-led all scorers with ten minutes' play, and the Nary's Parisli, with Curtiss led all scorers with ten minutes' play, at the conclusion of the game, the Mountaineers won on the strength of the offensive blast of the game. The Mountaineers were second to the Golden Bears in the first stanza, and clearly ahead of the rest in the second half.
